Description

In a live broadcast, recorded on February 25, 1971, Charles Amirkhanian talked with Lars-Gunner Bodin, Music Director of the Swedish Center for Technological Art, and a long time member of the Fylkingen Society. The two talk about the two institutions and their role in promoting avant-garde electronic music, sound poetry, and inter-media art in Sweden and Europe in general. Several compositions produced at the Center are heard, including "Traces " by Bodin, "Don't Hesitate" by Sten Hanson, and "Mr. Smith in Rhodesia" by Ake Hodell.
